

AMS REPORT

Amani Centre and DCMP/Children's Home

Greetings from the Amani Centre, Makang'wa Village, and the Children's Home, Village of Mahoma Makulu.

The new Activities Building, funded by AMS, has been completed. It is now in daily use.

A key activity is the daily tuition classes conducted for children from the adjacent village. These are valued by the families and also by the teachers at the village Primary School. Of course, it is also used for any other 'home family' uses.

THANK YOU, AMS for this wonderful contribution to the life and development of the Home. The leading photo, taken from the east, displays the three main buildings: from the left, the main house, the new ablutions building and the activities building.

There is much yet to accomplish but all will be done in the Lord's timing. Of that we are confident. Thank you, members, for your prayers and generous support. This is the dry season (the very dry season) therefore all looks barren, however the soil is quite fertile. The staff and lads who work here grow a variety of vegetables.

Presently we are renovating the interior of the main house. It has rather hard use over past years. Next week I shall begin to deliver furnishings donated by the Cokesbury United Methodist Church, Pensacola, Florida.

Last Sunday I preached at St. Thomas' Anglican Church, in the village of Chisichili. This was my first visit to this congregation. My interpreter is Caleb Dobogo, the Head of our Prince of Peace School. I was installed as an ELDER of the congregation! Well, I am surely 'elderly', so I guess the designation fits. These are wonderful people, full of joy and faith.

Mother's Union is strong in this congregation and in most congregations throughout the Diocese. Here their members are entering, as a choir, to sing during the service.

These three Grade VII students, from the Prince of Peace School, are the TOP students of Chamwino District. There are 119 Primary School in the District. We have dedicated teachers – and WONDERFUL children.

With thanks, Fr. John Naumann
